1. In early June 1950, source was employed on the construction of settlement houses in Stalcarji (Y 2/J 66) and learned from the wife of a Yugoslav senior lieutenant of the reserve that his address was APN 1001. The officer, who attended a training course from 1 May to 1 July 1950, was originally stationed in Postumia (7 D/J 18) and after June 1950 in Novy Coritza.
2. In early 1947, a motorized artillery unit equipped with 105-mm guns and AT guns of from 70 to 80 mm caliber was located in a barracks installation on the northern edge of Postumia, on the west side of the road to Ljubljana. Seven stables were seen west of this installation. Soldiers with cable reels were frequently seen in a barracks installation located on the east side of this road. The installation consisted of two multi-story buildings.
3. The Hq 1st Proletarian Div was located in a detached villa in the southwestern sector of Postumia, about 500 meters from the edge of the town.
4. Six garages for tanks, with concrete foundations and corrugated sheet-metal roofs were under construction in the angle formed by the Postumia-St Pietro (7 D/J 18) and the Postumia-Trieste roads in early 1947. Each of the garages was 30x11 meters and about 5 meters high.
5. A division hospital was located northwest of Postumia, near the grotto.
